

Reference

- Agricultural marketing service - home. (2012, October 17). Agricultural Marketing Service - Home. Retrieved December 3, 2013, from <http://www.ams.usda.gov/AMSV1.0/NOPConsumers>.
- Blichfeldt, B. & Gram, M. (2012). Lost in transition? Student food consumption. Higher Education, 65(3), 277-289.
- Janick, J. (1970). Plant environment. Plant Agriculture : Readings from Scientific American, (pp. 75-108). San Francisco: W.H. Freeman.
- Labeling organic products. (2012, October). Labeling Organic Products. Retrieved December 2, 2013, from <http://www.ams.usda.gov/AMSV1.0/getfile?dDocName=STELDEV3004446&acct=nopgeninfo>.
- Langer, R. (1972). Vegetables. Grow It (pp. 102-104). New York: Saturday Review Press.
- Levine, C. (2010). You are what (and how) you eat: Pau McCarthy's food-flinging frenzies. Invisible Culture, 3(14), 51-62.
- McCabe, H. (2013). Bamboo shoots after the rain: development and challenges of autism intervention in China. Autism, 17(5), 510-526.
- Organic certification. (2011, November 15). Organic Certification | USDA. Retrieved December 2, 2013, from http://www.usda.gov/wps/portal/usda/usdahome?navid=ORGANIC_CERTIFICATIO.

Portnoy, S. (2013). Organic, natural & health. American Fitness, 31, 25-30.

Spangler, C., Brandeau, M., Olkin, I., Bravata, D., Hunter, G., Bavinger, J., et al. (2012).

Are organic foods safer or healthier than conventional alternatives. Annals of Internal Medicine, 157(05), 348-366.