

parents, pay thine obligations; and shame upon him who cannot stay in college.

VI. Thou shalt do no "cribbing" in Exams., for the pangs of him that is caught are woeful.

VII. Thou shalt not leave town with unpaid bills.

VIII. Thou shalt not steal—other men's time by loafing in their rooms during reviews, and Exam. week.

IX. Thou shalt not be a "spotter."

X. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's brains, nor his "drag," nor his grade, nor anything that is his.

With this issue, Lafayette will be discontinued until next term. Either the first or second issue after Christmas will be the football number, which will contain a full resumé of the football season and many interesting facts and details about the various men that won their "L's" this fall, as well as a brief resumé of each contest. There will be other features as well.

Lafayette Work in Persia.

THE general committee on the Lafayette educational work in Persia has issued a small pamphlet giving an outline of the work there. We quote as follows:

"We Americans recognize that we have a mission of civilization, benevolence, and helpfulness in the world. We believe in education for ourselves and others, and are founding and supporting educational institutions in almost every land. In recent years, our colleges and universities, as well as our churches and missionary societies, have been taking up this work. Harvard has gone into India, and Yale, Princeton, and the University of Pennsylvania have gone into China. And Lafayette, in line with this movement, has gone into Persia. In 1898, S. M. Jordan, '95, was sent to Teheran, Persia's capitol, to take charge of the American School for Boys there, and A. C. Boyce, '07, has just been sent to join him as a teacher of science." * * *

* "This statement and appeal for funds is being widely sent to the men of Lafayette with the earnest request that this matter be carefully considered and cordially responded to. We have an exceptional opportunity to educate the men who will be the leaders of Persia, and thus to mold the new life of the awakening nation. Let every loyal Lafayette man then help in this Lafayette work in that far-off land where our own Jordan and Boyce are laboring so successfully, and where there is such good reason to hope for good things in the near future."

The committee is as follows: Hon. W. S. Kirkpatrick, '63, chairman; Rev. Harvey Klaer, '96, vice-chairman; Rev. J. F. Stonecipher, D.D., '74, secretary and treasurer—all of Easton; Mr. M. R. Alexander, '76; Rev. T. T. Brown, '95; Rev. Chas. T. Chalfant, '89; Rev. R. L. Clark, '74; Rev. Henry Cunningham, '98; Hon. L. W. Doty, '70; Rev. M. J. Eckels, D.D., '70; Mr. E. J. Fox, '78; Mr. L. F. Gates, '97; Rev. B. M. Gemmill, '89; Rev. U. S. Greeves, '92; Mr. I. P. Hand, '65; Prof. E. B. Huey, '95; Rev. Henry E. Jackson, '93; Rev. Dr. John B. Laird, '92; Rev. Dr. J. C. Mackenzie, '77; Rev. James Moore, '93; Mr. N. G. Moore, '73; Prof. W. B. Owen, '71; Mr. I. P. Pardee, '74; Mr. S. R. Park, '84; Dr. McCluney Radcliffe, '77; Rev. John Balcom Shaw, D.D., '85; Mr. R. The Orange and Blue of Bucknell for Nov. 18th published an interesting graphic description. A sheet was ruled with the five yard lines and, by a code of lines, the ball was followed play by play during the whole game. The result is a very satisfactory and detailed account of the contest.
