

2:00- 2:55 PM

Block III Workshops

9. Alumni Roundtable Discussions

An opportunity to meet face to face with the members of the alumni panel and Otis Ellis for small group discussion and questions and answers.

10. Stress Management

Stress can be motivating and invigorating, or it can be quite overwhelming. Identify and access your current sources of stress and usual coping methods. Then work with others in the group to learn practical ways to keep your personal stress level manageable and stay involved without feeling burned out.

Cindy Adams, Health Promotions Coordinator, Julie Damiano '02

11. Friends and Leaders: The Intricate Balance

Have you ever been torn between what you know is right and loyalty to a friend? This interactive session will examine the challenges student leaders face maintaining independence and objective thinking when dealing with issues involving friends and peers. The only prerequisite is your life experiences. Maria Fekete '02, Dana Newcomb '02

Building Bridges Through Leadership

February 3, 2001

Building Bridges Through Leadership

9:30-10:00 AM

Registration & Breakfast Marquis Lobby & Bergethon Room

10:00-10:40 AM

Keynote Address

Leading By Example

Otis Ellis '89, investment banker and Lafayette "Athlete of the Century Hall of Fame" honoree, will discuss leadership styles, and how his style, through example, has enabled him to build bridges in his personal and professional life. Mr. Ellis will also share his view of "earned" as opposed to "conferred" leadership, a roll-up-your-sleeves model, and will conclude by issuing a challenge to participants to become leaders of tomorrow to shape our world through actions and deeds.

10:45-11:40 AM

Block I Workshops

1. Keynote Follow-Up

An opportunity to dialogue with Mr. Ellis.

2. 24 Hours Is Not Enough! Time Management for the College Student

College students often feel that 24 hours in a day is not enough. Budgeting your time can be difficult if you are not organized. Time management is an art form that needs to be learned. This session will teach you some easy ways to organize your schedule and get the most out of your day. Pamela Perez '99

3. "Oh #$$@&! I Missed It"

Are you tired of hearing that phrase from your friends because they didn't know about a program after you spent hours organizing it? Learn to go beyond posters, table tents, and banners hung in Farinon, and develop your promotions and publicity abilities by learning basic design principles. Understand how ad agencies do what they do so well, and brainstorm with your peers to develop new, exciting promotional ideas. Lisa Kidd, Assistant Director of Student Activities

4. The Bigger Picture of Leadership — Where It Can Take You!

This inspirational and "edutaining" presentation will empower you to uncover your own personal vision for your life. Through the use of props, prizes, movie clips, music, and magic, students will vividly realize just how far their vision can take them in life! Jarrod Tron Spencer '96

11:45AM -12:40 PM Block II Workshops

5. Collaborative Leadership

Do you find working in a group with several leaders is a challenging task? A panel of experienced student leaders will tell you how they tackle collaborative leadership and give you advice on how to be an effective collaborative leader. Moderator: Allyssa Grimbilas '01, Student Leadership Intern, Panelists: Landon Adams '02, Rob Albergotti '01, Alice Davis '01, Ben Mack '02, Bora Tokyay '01, Katie Wyckoff '01

6. Your Spoken Image

Successful leadership can depend on how well you express your thoughts and ideas. How you communicate verbally sends a message about you. This workshop will explore creative techniques for enhancing your "spoken image." Tracy Garnick, Assistant Dean of Students, Advisor to Fraternities and Sororities

7. Avenues to Leadership

This interactive program was designed to help you explore the influence that various leadership opportunities may have upon the acquisition of specific leadership skills (e.g., delegation skills, conflict resolution, time management). Participants will also have the opportunity to explore the different ways that leadership skills may be acquired by members of diverse racial, ethnic, and gender groups. Timothy Silvestri, Staff Psychologist, Carrie Spell, Director of Intercultural Development

8. Building Bridges With the Community

Would you like to make a difference in the community? This workshop will teach you about community leadership and how you can address the needs of the world around you when you serve others with your particular gifts. It will also offer tips for maximizing your service experience and honing your leadership skills.

Charlene Gray, Landis Community Outreach Center Director, Kathleen Houser, Landis Community Outreach Center Intern

12:45- 2:00 PM
