

3:15-3:30 PM REFRESHMENTS

3:30-4:15 PM Block IV

10. TEAMWORK: AN EXERCISE IN SYNERGY
Some say it's a fad that is bigger than hula hoops! Around the world, business and government leaders are zealous participants in the new "team" movement. Come learn how you too can become an active participant in not just the team movement, but the team itself. Kristin Arney '98

11. A BLUEPRINT FOR SUCCESSFUL INTERVIEWING
How can you effectively present yourself in a job or graduate school interview? The presenters will discuss the fine points of interview preparation and how you can ready yourself for the new "behavioral interviewing". Deborah Jones, Associate Director of Career Services, Marvin Roth, Director of Career Services, Robert E. Sell '84, Partner, Andersen Consulting

12. KEEPING IT ALL TOGETHER: MANAGING THE STRESS OF LEADERSHIP
Handling academics and extracurricular leadership can be very draining. Dealing with these situations can make you feel like screaming or crying. RELAX. This fun, interactive and informative session will provide you with the skills needed to maximize your performance while minimizing your stress. Carmen Marsit '00

Block I

1. KEYNOTE Follow-Up

An opportunity to dialogue with Dr. Bailey.

2. MONEY MATTERS

For those preparing to be financially independent in the months ahead, this session will provide important tips on such topics as employment benefits, money management, apartment rent and realtor fees, financing graduate school and purchasing real estate. Susan Averett, Associate Professor of Economics & Business, Sheila Handy, Visiting Assistant Professor of Economics & Business

3. WOMEN LEADERS: UNDERSTANDING OUR PAST, ENVISIONING OUR FUTURE

Women wear many leadership hats, as members of sports teams, presidents of organizations, or as supporters of women's issues. This session will explore the past and envision the future for women in leadership, and a student panel will consider the challenges women leaders face at Lafayette. Tracy Garnick, Assistant Dean of Students, Deb Mindock, Associate Director of Student Residence, Emma-Anne Millard '98, Brett Underwood '98, Yolanda Wisler '99

4. TIME MANAGEMENT 202: SPENDING YOUR TIME ON WHAT MATTERS MOST

Are you choked by your overflowing commitments? You can try...but you can't add more hours to the day! This session will take time management to a new level by helping you gain control of one of your most precious resources...your time. Cindy Kane '92, Associate Director of Campus Activities, Seton Hall University

Block III

6. THE VOICE OF LEADERSHIP

One aspect of successful leadership is the ability to communicate with confidence and competence. Don't miss out on leadership opportunities due to poor public speaking skills...come to this session and test your "voice" for leadership. Marlene Johnson, Visiting Instructor of English

7. GENERATION X: LAFAYETTE STEREOTYPE OR REALITY?

Do Lafayette students represent typical "Gen Xers?" This workshop will incorporate action team discussions with overall group debate to explore this question, and also look for solutions to the apathy that is a part of the Generation X image. Brett Underwood '98, Sharon Bogan '99, Melissa Veitengruber '99

8. STRATEGIES FOR SUCCESS: HOW TO GET WHAT YOU WANT...MOST OF THE TIME!

This workshop will examine the dynamics of a successful negotiation. The presenters will identify the factors that influence all negotiations, and analyze and illustrate them using real world case studies. They will prepare YOU to put these factors into practice. Gary Platt '70, Partner, Ullman, Furhman, Platt & Koy, Jeffrey Ullman '70, Partner, Ullman, Furhman, Platt & Koy

9. THE ETHICS OF LEADERSHIP

Persons in leadership positions often find themselves having conflicting duties and obligations, which are especially acute when leaders must decide between opposing loyalties. This session is designed to provide an examination of the ethical reasoning involved in sorting through these conflicts. George E. Panichas, Associate Professor and Head of Philosophy
